Mission Statement:

The mission of New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary is to equip leaders to fulfill the Great Commission and the Great Commandments through the local church and its ministries.

Course Purpose, Core Value Focus, and Curriculum Competencies Addressed:

The purpose of this course is to carry out the mission of NOBTS as is reflected through the core values and the core competencies in the following ways:

Core Values addressed:

1. Doctrinal Integrity—a proper grasp of God’s truth as revealed in His Son, Jesus Christ, through His Word provides the necessary foundation to pursue the other four core values listed by the seminary. This is the core value most directly addressed by the course.
2. Spiritual Vitality—the study of truth always carries an implicit call to commitment.
3. Mission Focus—the content of the Great Commission (Matt. 28:18-20) permeates the material covered by this course.
4. Characteristic Excellence—the ultimate significance of the Gospel requires that its ministers demonstrate a clear understanding of doctrinal truth.

Core Competencies addressed:

1. Biblical Exposition—the importance of proper exposition of pertinent biblical texts will be modeled throughout the course.
2. Christian Theological Heritage—the course will demonstrate how the development of doctrine through the centuries played a significant role in Christian history.
3. Disciple Making—a biblically-based, Christ-centered systematic theology provides the cognitive content for a discipleship regimen.
4. Spiritual and Character Formation—part of the Great Commandment is to love God with “all your mind” (Mark 12:30). A systematic study of Christian doctrine provides the framework by which the believer can pursue obedience to this aspect of the commandment.
5. Worship Leadership—contemplating God and his truth better equips the Church to worship properly.

Course Description:

Theology II (online) is a study of Christology, Pneumatology, Soteriology, Ecclesiology and Eschatology in which the biblical, historical, systematic and philosophical views of these doctrines will be defined and surveyed. The scriptural foundations for these doctrines will be emphasized and arguments set forth in their defense. Alternate views will be surveyed and critiqued. The relevance of these doctrines to the Christian life and witness will also be demonstrated. Theology II is a continuation of Theology I, and as such is a comprehensive study of the major doctrines of the Christian faith from the point of view of those who are within the Christian church.

Course Objectives:

1. Christology
To demonstrate an understanding of Christology as it relates to His person and work as understood biblically, systematically and historically. We will identify the primary biblical texts relating to the person and work of Christ in Old Testament prophecy and New Testament fulfillment and expectancy. The four major Christological councils will be surveyed. The deity and humanity of Christ will be presented as understood from the evangelical perspective in the context of contemporary thought. The various theories of the nature and extent of the atonement will be covered. The question as to why the bodily resurrection of Jesus Christ is central for the Christian faith will be examined. There will be a general overview of Christ's offices of Prophet, Priest, and King.

2. Pneumatology
To demonstrate an understanding of the Holy Spirit as fully God and His work in biblical History. Attention will be given to His work in the Old Testament in relation to creation, revelation, and salvation. In the New Testament, the work of the Holy Spirit in the life of Jesus, the soteriological work of the Holy Spirit, and His work in the Church and in individual believers will be examined. The extent and activity of spiritual gifts for today will be discussed.
3. Soteriology
To understand the nature, purpose, and plan of salvation, including the issues of grace, election and predestination, the nature of faith, conversion, and regeneration, the perseverance of the saints and the attendant issues of justification, sanctification, and glorification. The various positions within evangelicalism concerning election will be surveyed.
4. Ecclesiology
To understand the doctrine of the church, including its nature, marks, purposes, purity and unity with its attendant issues of church government, worship, baptism and the Lord's Supper. The historical development of the doctrine of the church will be examined along with the various models and metaphors of the church. The issues of church discipline, public worship, and the role of women will be covered.
5. Eschatology
To understand the doctrine of eschatology (last things), including personal eschatology (the intermediate state, resurrection, the nature of eternal life and punishment) with its various theories. The discussions will survey the historical development of the doctrine of last things. We will also examine corporate eschatology, covering the various views of the Tribulation, the Millennium, and eternal judgment. Special attention will be given to the debates concerning Hell, annihilationism, and universalism.

Course Teaching Methodology:

The primary teaching methodology employed in the Blackboard online "classroom" will be facilitated study. Students will listen to audio lectures, have reading assignments, and participate in discussion questions. A research assignment will engage the student in formal theological research and increase their skill in the proper use of research methods.

Course Textbooks:

Erickson, Millard. Christian Theology, 2nd edition. Grand Rapids: Baker, 1998.

Elwell, Walter A. ed. Evangelical Dictionary of Theology, 2nd edition. Grand Rapids: Baker, 2001.

At least one other systematic theology, evangelical in orientation, to use with your worksheet. Your choice.

Course Requirements: (The professor reserves the right to change the syllabus with due notification to the class).

1. Reading
The class schedule lists the pages of the textbooks to be read each week. The reading load is substantial and the student should be diligent to complete assigned readings.
2. Audio Lectures
Students can download the audio lectures of the class covering various topics throughout the course. The recorded lectures are from the residential classes offered at the main campus. Listening to the lectures are not required, but students will find it almost imperative to listen to the lectures to understand the material. Lecture notes can be downloaded under the class materials section of the course. Discussion questions (explained below) will come from the lecture notes and readings. NOTE: The audio lectures do not necessarily coincide directly with the assigned chapter readings, though the themes from the chapters will generally be followed.
3. Quizzes
Quizzes will be given weekly over the assigned chapter readings and vocabulary words. The quizzes ONLY COVER THE ASSIGNED READINGS, though students will find the audio lectures will also explain concepts and vocabulary words. Students will have 15 minutes to answer 10 questions.
4. Book Review
A book review will be due during the first part of the course. The book should cover a topic that is examined in this course (see course outline for possible topics). The review should be 10-12 pages, double spaced, 12 point Time New Roman font, and written according of the most recent edition of Turabian's A Manual for Writers.

The chosen book should cover a topic significant to theological study. Please email the instructor for approval of any book. You will find attached to the syllabus sample books that are appropriate for the assignment.
5. Research Component:
A research paper with a prior approval sheet is required for completing the course. The approval sheet is to give the working title of the paper, a paragraph explaining the thesis of the paper; and a bibliography of at least 20 sources. Failure to turn in an approval sheet by the due date will result in the research paper being docked one letter grade. Please see course schedule for the due date.

The length of the research paper is to be 12-15 pages. The paper is to be typed in a double spaced format per K. L. Turabian's A Manual for Writers. The topic sheet and the research paper together will constitute 25% of your grade. Early papers will be rewarded; late papers will be penalized. Guidelines for doing the research paper are available online in the course documents area. Papers must be turned in on time.
6. Examinations
Two exams will be given, a midterm and a final. A study guide will be provided. Students should expect the exams to consist of essay questions. The exams will be online, timed essay questions.

7. Discussion Questions

Weekly discussion questions will be posted. These discussion questions will be based upon the week's assigned reading. Students will also find the audio lectures will provide more material with which they can interact and provide answers. Students are required to make at least 3 substantive posts each week to each question. A substantive post is defined as a post which contains the following: 1) At least 150 words, 2) exhibits a thoughtful response based upon the class material, and 3) furthers the discussion thread by posing new questions or thoughts to which other students may respond.
