Course Requirements

1. Absences: School policies concerning absences and tardiness will be strictly enforced. Due to the format of this class, students are encouraged to select carefully days they will be absent
2. Exam: One examination will be given at the end of the class as a take-home exam. The test will cover both materials covered in class and in the readings. The test will consist of objective sections (matching, true/false, and multiple answer questions) and subjective sections (identification and essay questions). The exam will count for 25% of the class average.
3. Book Review: Each student will write a 5-page, double-spaced (Times Roman 12 point font) book review and analysis covering the required Erickson textbook. This review will discuss the contents of the book as well as provide analysis of the arguments presented within the book. Half the paper should be a review of the contents of the book and the other half a personal critique and reflection of the contents of the book. This paper will be graded for both its content and its form, which is to follow the guidelines outlined in the most recent edition of Turabian and is to be produced on a computer. The grade will be counted off five points for every day that the paper is late. The book review and analysis will compose 20% of the final semester grade.
4. Research paper: Each student will write a 15-page position paper (in Turabian format) on the topics assigned. The topics for the paper will be discussed and assigned at the start of the semester. Papers should be written in Turabian format. The position paper will count toward 25% of the final grade.
5. Group Activity-“Cultural Currents in Everyday Life”:
Groups will go to everyday places of life and observe cultural trends that relate to philosophy, theology, and biblical themes. Such trends may be taken from malls, gas stations, downtown sidewalks, movie theaters, etc. Should be 1 page, double-spaced, in formal writing format. Students should spend at least one hour observing the “culture” looking for the influence of postmodernity in light of biblical truth. Each group will give a 10-minute presentation of their observations during the workshop. Groups will be assigned on the first day of the class.

6. Participation: All students are responsible for being in the classroom on time, reading the assigned materials, and participating in the class discussions. Therefore, each student will receive a class participation grade. This grade will be based upon three criteria; class attendance and tardiness, contribution to class discussions, and reading quiz grades. This grade will compose 10% of the final class grade.
