COURSE DESCRIPTION:
The purpose of this course is to introduce the student to the study of Greek syntax. Translation and vocabulary skills will be developed by daily translation of selected New Testament passages, but the main focus of the course is the analysis of the passage from the perspective of syntax. Intermediate Greek Grammar or its equivalent is a prerequisite for this course.

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES:
The desired student outcomes for this course include the following:
1. Students should understand the categories and functions of Greek syntax.
2. Students should gain an increased appreciation for how the study of Greek enhances Biblical interpretation.
3. Students should acquire the ability to analyze syntactical relationships in a Greek text and apply this analysis to sound interpretation of the text.

COURSE TEACHING METHODS:
This course will be taught via a combination of pedagogical methods, including but not limited to the following: lectures, student assignments, small group work, computer resources, textbook reviews, and student presentations in class. Both inductive and deductive approaches to learning Greek grammar and syntax will be utilized.

TEXTBOOKS:
The basic texts include the following:
Main text: James A. Brooks and Carlton L. Winbery, Syntax of New Testament Greek
Supplementary: Daniel Wallace, Greek Grammar Beyond the Basics: An Exegetical Syntax of the NT
Any beginner or intermediate Greek grammar (as an aid by the student in grammatical concerns) The Greek New Testament (the 5th edition of the UBS or the 28th edition of Nestle-Aland)
Any Greek-language based commentary on Philippians

COURSE REQUIREMENTS AND GRADING:
(1) Review/Summary cards. The student is required to prepare summary cards of the items studied in the course. A sample format for the cards will be given to students at the beginning of the intensive. The cards will be submitted for review daily during the intensive, then returned to the student by the end of the day. The cards should be typed (the Greek may be handwritten) and suitable for use both during the course and beyond. 20%
