Abstract text begins here. Provide a succinct, descriptive account of your work indicating your purpose, project model, and results. For proposals, use present tense, and for reports, use past tense. For actions unique to you, use appropriate first-person pronouns (I/me/my) rather than the outdated terminology, "project director." See Turabian, 9th ed., (T9), 11.1.7, for more.

Paragraph symbols (¶) are shown here for spacing demonstration purposes. Go to ribbon's Home/Paragraph to activate or deactive the ¶ symbol. Note the two lines of space between the title and the names associated with the project and between the names associated with the project and the text. Academic degrees are abbreviated without periods or spaces (see T9, 24.2.3).

The abstract no longer appears at the end of the front matter, immediately preceding the text (see T9, A.2.1.4). Henceforth, place the abstract after the title page in the proposal and after the copyright page in the report. Front matter pages that precede the table of contents are counted in preliminary page numbering but page numbers do not appear on these types of pages. Because the abstract now precedes the table of contents, the abstract no longer appears on the contents page.
